SANTA FE VEGAN DINING GUIDE

Animal Protection of New Mexico

WHY VEGAN?

Many people have become vegetarian (no meat, poultry or fish) or vegan (no meat, fish, fowl, eggs, dairy, or any animal products) for various reasons: For health reasons (including reduced risk for heart disease, cancer, obesity; because of the immense suffering to animals inherent in an animal protein-based diet; and because of the widespread damage animal-based agriculture causes to our environment. We hope this guide will help make it easier and enjoyable for you to explore the wide range of local and international cuisines right here in New Mexico that are healthful and delicious and do not involve cruelty to animals or the destruction of our precious planet.

The restaurants listed in this guide provide a variety of dining choices, all featuring at least some vegan dishes. Additional menu items containing meat, eggs or dairy products can often be prepared without them, and most restaurants are willing to prepare vegan dishes if you ask. For example, substituting tofu, beans or grilled vegetables instead of meat or cheese. Letting the restaurant owner know that you visited his or her establishment especially for a vegan meal may encourage an expanded vegan/vegetarian menu in the future.

NOTE: Many restaurant staff do not have a clear understanding of what it means to be vegetarian or vegan. If the menu isn't specific, it's always best to inquire about each dish whether it contains meat, chicken or seafood, including broth, lard, bacon, or other animal products. Common examples are soups, flavored rice, beans, and red or green chile. Similarly, vegans should ask specifically about dairy products, eggs, gelatin, honey, etc. in sauces, soups, salad dressings, desserts and baked goods.

This edition of APNM's Santa Fe Vegan Dining Guide is by no means inclusive of all restaurants offering vegan fare, but we hope that we've included your favorite vegan-friendly restaurants. If not, please let us know so we can keep our guides up-to-date. Telephone numbers and websites are included so you can check menu selections and confirm operating hours. We've also included a list of natural food stores where you can find organic foods, vegan groceries and prepared vegan dishes, as well as a wide range of cruelty-free personal care and household products.

Please contact us if you know of a business that would like to help us distribute this guide to their patrons. See APNM's dining guides for Albuquerque and other parts of New Mexico at apnm.org/vegandining.
